

The basic textbook in the field of homeopathic medicine “The science of homeopathy” by Professor G. Vithoukas, was translated into Serbian and is for sale at <https://chmed.org.rs/proizvod/nauka-homeopatije-dzordz-vitulkas/> . Written after 30 years of practical experience and scientific practice of homeopathic medicine, this textbook is an indispensable literature for every physician. Also, it can give amateurs clear guidelines on what they can expect from homeopathic treatment.

In the first part of the book, G. Vithoukas gives a description of relationship between health and disease from a holistic point of view. In the second part of the book, there are practical instructions on how to take anamnesis and analyze the data relevant for prescribing homeopathic medicine. Particularly important part of the book is the monitoring of patients during homeopathic therapy, their shift on the scale of health levels, i.e. recognizing of salutogenic activity of the applied remedy.