Anxiety and Jealousy - Classical Homeopathic Evaluation is a book based on the “Anxiety and Jealousy” seminar held in Zurich, where George Vithoukas shared his extensive experience and deep knowledge of Materia Medica with his students.

When does anxiety become pathological, how is it treated with classical homeopathy?

The types of jealousy, the level at which it becomes pathological, its crises, its types and its homeopathic treatment?

In the book, which consists of two separate parts, “Anxiety” and “Jealousy”, twenty-five remedies for these areas are examined in depth with case studies as well as their general characteristics. A comprehensive index of all the remedies in the cases discussed and the comparisons made during the seminar and the key concepts of twenty-five remedies made the book a practical reference work.

This seminar, in which George Vithoukas presents the key concepts of the most important remedies in a lively and practical way, aimed to provide all homeopaths with a clear understanding of the rationale for correct prescribing while highlighting the distinctive aspects of remedies.
